ANNUAL REPORT (2015-16)

1. INTRODUCTION

With over 50 years of its history, Prithvi Narayan Campus is one of the oldest and largest campuses of Tribhuvan University and is striving for finding solutions to challenges and preparing students for leadership in the 21st century.

The campus was founded on 1 September 1960 (17 Bhadra 2017 BS) in the western region, which was initially run by the local community and named “Prithvi Narayan Inter College”, starting with 13 students and 2 teachers for intermediate education. The beginning classes were conducted in Kanya School, Nadipur Patan and moved to Bhimkali Patan in Bagar after two years.

The college resumed its first batch on 20 August 1963 with the Bachelor of Arts (BA) study, which was accredited from Tribhuvan University. The college was formally incorporated with Tribhuvan University on 1 Shrawan 2030 BS as one of its constituent campuses, changing its status from ‘college to ‘campus’. The campus started its master’s degree in Economics in 2035 BS. It was followed by the MA in Geography the following year in 2036 BS.

The campus now has 4 faculties and 1 institute: Faculty of Humanities & Social Sciences, Faculty of Management and Faculty of Law, Faculty of Education, and Institute of Science & Technology. It has 29 departments and runs 34 programmes and offers about 500 courses. There are 504 faculty and 117 non-teaching staff who have involved in providing higher education to more than 8,007 students in various academic programmes.

The campus has been the major centre for higher education in the western region and has spread over 36 hectares (over 721 ropanis) along on the banks of the Seti Gandaki River.

4. RESEARCH ACTIVITIES

Over the past few years, Prithvi Narayan Campus has become a major research institution that engages its faculty members and students in research activities. The faculty members and students (here students who involve in research activities through project works and thesis writing) in the campus are advancing the frontiers of science, management, education, law, humanities and social sciences.

Both young faculty members and students (Bachelor's and Master's Level) at the campus are encouraged to take advantage of a wide range of research opportunities. Each department at the campus provides support to students engaged in Master's Level research and provide orientations on how to conduct research and write reports. The students have the opportunity to work alongside experienced faculty members in a variety of settings. Together, they work to find solutions to society's most pressing problems.

The research committee has a separate well-furnished office and a seminar hall in the Science Laboratory Building. It possesses an office at the corner of the hall with six computers, and a printer (multi-functional). This committee was established as a centre to serve the faculty members and students to enhance their academic and research capabilities and to provide resources for conducting research activities. In addition, the committee coordinates, supervises and evaluates research activities of the faculty members and students.

Non-Teaching Staff

At Prithvi Narayan Campus, non-teaching staff accomplish the administrative responsibilities and are dedicated to student support teaching learning, research and public service. They come from different academic and cultural backgrounds. Together, they work with the facilities of the campus and make all the work of the campus a possibility. The following chart shows the list of non-teaching staff of the campus, which is presented by position.

7. STUDENT FLOW

Much of the student experience at Prithvi Narayan Campus is defined by its size: the campus is both geographically dispersed and immense in its resources. For incoming students, success while at the campus often depends on identifying personal pathways through their undergraduate experience. Toward that end, the campus must ensure that students have early and ongoing interaction with faculty, as well as structured access to opportunities for engaging in research and professional development. This defining characteristic should be protected and nourished. Finally, the campus will enable students to take a leading role in transforming their own experience through opportunities for fostering friendships, personal and intellectual growth, civility, and community pride.

8. FINANCIAL MANAGEMENT

In order to help create a good environment for its students and faculty, Prithvi Narayan Campus has to address its financial position. At a time of steady decline in the government revenues, the campus has to augment revenues by expanding nontraditional academic offerings, developing innovative fundraising paradigms, and rethinking delivery of academic, student, and auxiliary services. Similarly, the campus has to recover resources internally that are associated with inefficient, ineffective, or outmoded programs and redeploy these resources toward our new strategic goals.

The cost of higher education in the campus for the fiscal year 2016/17 is as follows:

Total Amount of budget: Rs. 210641000.00

Amount of development budget: Rs. 4150700.00

Capital Expenditure: Rs. 19473000.00

Income

The main source of financing is its own internal investment and certain amount of budget received from the university, which is presented below:

9. CONCLUSION

Teaching learning and research at Prithvi Narayan Campus are organized through the faculties, institutes, departments and programmes. Recently, there are 504 teaching staff and 117 non-teaching staff who have involved in providing higher education to more than 8007 students. More than 500 Bachelor's and Master's courses are offered that formed curriculum of remarkable breadth and depth. The campus is, thus, rich in terms of a number of students studying in the campus, infrastructure available in creating a good teaching learning and research activities, and a number of faculty and non-teaching staff working to maintain the quality of higher education offered by the campus.

The campus has also formulated a five-year strategic education plan to achieve the mission and vision of the campus. The campus is a student-oriented place with a friendly and self-motivated community of advanced students. Most importantly, there is a mix of students from different cultures and social backgrounds around the western region that makes the campus a vibrant place to study.
